

CHASING A RAINBOW

Oh yes, it's johnny
JOHNNY LITTON

Russian artist Natalya Bronzova recently held an exhibition titled "Rainbow of My Soul" at Chef Jessie in Rockwell, Makati City.

Natalya, a philology and history graduate who has written several books on art and history, is a true connoisseur and scholar. She has also arranged many symposiums for international artists in places like Canada, Turkey and Malaysia, and has organized the inauguration of over 30 bronze monuments all over the world. Now, it's her turn to show her masterpieces to the world. Her exhibition "From Russian Soul with Love" was also exhibited at the Cultural Center of the Philippines (CCP), making her the first Russian artist to have her works displayed on the premier showcase of the arts in the country. Many art lovers who attended the "Rainbow of My Soul" exhibit were inspired by her works, and this is surely just the beginning of even greater things for Natalya.

Russian Embassy Manila Minister-Counsellor and Deputy Head of Mission Vadim Velikanov, Lolita Mirpuri, Natalya Bronzova, Maria Fema Duterte, Ditas Posadas, Ambassador Victor Garcia and wife Connie

One of Natalya Bronzova's stunning masterpieces, "Aphrodita"

Jewel Pimentel and Cory Quirino

Russian Ambassador Igor Khovaev and Cultural Center of the Philippines (CCP) president Dr. Raul Sunico

Anthony Violago and Matthew Manotoc

Andre Beriault with Kamila Manotoc

Lolita Mirpuri

Dmitry Petrov, assistant to the Russian Ambassador Natalia Naumova and Vadim Velikanov

Martino Feltrin, Maria Fema Duterte, Robert Young, Federick Caedo and Dom Briones

Maria Estella Zaconor with Connie Quirino

Artist Ed Arcilla and Medith Nepomuceno

Pianist Dr. Ingrid Santamaria, Ilocos Norte Second District Representative Imelda Marcos and Natalya Bronzova; (standing) Andre Beriault, BDO VP for marketing communications Maurice Lim, Jimmy Licauco and Alex Orbito